Carver-Price School News

Hello Readers!

Another nice holiday has arrived. Everyone is planning a very enjoyable Thanksgiving. Many will attend church, hunt before returning to school, attend the football classic, and visit relatives. With each activity, we feel sure each individual will not forget to be thankful and give to someone less fortunate.

The Student Council is again giving Thanksgiving baskets to the needy. Students will bring food for the baskets on Wednesday.

The Carver-Price High School Panthers will open the 1956-57 basketball season against Susie Gibson High School on December 5, in Bedford. The following night the Panthers will be host to R. R. Moton High, of Farmville. This will also be the initial appearance of the "Baby Panthers" in a preliminary contest. The outlook for the Panthers this season is very bright.

The following is the home schedule for games:

Dec. 6.- R. R. Moton, of Farmville
Dec. 12.- Campbell of Rustburg.
Dec. 18.- Northside, of Gretna.
Jan. 4.- Central Hi, of Charlotte Court House.
Jan. 11.- Susie-Gibson, of Bedford.
Jan. 18.- Carter G. Woodson, of Buckingham.
Feb. 8.- Central Hi, of Amherst.
Feb. 12.- Rosenwald, of Waynesboro.
Feb. 15.- Booker T. Washington, of Staunton.

Games to be played away are:

Dec. 5.- Susie Gibson, of Bedford.
Dec. 14.- Northside, of Gretna.
Dec. 20.- Campbell County, of Rustburg.
Jan. 8.- Booket T. Washington, of Staunton.
Jan. 17.- Central Hi of Amherst.
Jan. 25.- R. R. Moton of Farmville.
Jan. 29.- Carter G. Woodson, of Buckingham.
Feb. 5.- Central Hi of Charlotte C. H.
Feb. 1.- Rosenwald, of Waynesboro.

On February 15, "Miss Carver-Price High" will be crowned between halves of the Staunton-Carver-Price game.

On Monday, November 19, the Girls' Basketball Team met. There were 26 students out for the team. The Co-Captains elected were Emmagean Patterson and Pearl Jones, Juniors, and Diane Tibbs, Treasurer. Attractive new forms are expected by the first game. The colors are gray satin trimmed in maroon, our school colors. Prospects are for a good girls' team this year. There are a few veterans back.

Around Your Home

By Frances Dell

Insects and disease organisms flourish in weeds and vegetable refuse allowed to stay in the garden over the winter. Be sure to clean your garden as carefully as you would your home for this reason. If the ground is not already frozen, spade it so the soil can absorb moisture during the winter and will not become compacted.

Clean and store garden tools, oiling the ones which require it. This will add years to their usefulness.

Autumn leaves can be preserved if the leaf is pressed with a warm iron. The quick drying will preserve the colors. After pressing, soak the leaves in a solution of one tablespoon of glycerine to eight tablespoons of water for several hours. Remove the leaves and press between blotters. After this treatment the leaves will remain flexible and beautiful indefinitely.

In many sections of the spring blooming bulbs are planted. Try putting a little food under the bulbs when them out. This will pay off in blooms. Feed the soil one (one pint) of complete fertilizer per twenty-five square feet of area.

In the south it is time to cultivate strawberry beds lightly breaking up hard lumps and destroying weeds. Feed with complete plant food at the rate of four pounds per one hundred square feet.

Home Agent's Notes

Roasting the Turkey

Whether you are roasting a large stuffed turkey, cookery specialists at the U. S. Department of Agriculture suggest an oven temperature of 325° as practical and convenient. No need to worry about changing time to the size of the bird as cooks used to do. But the cooking time does vary with the weight of the turkey. Specialists recommend planning so the bird will be done 20 to 30 minutes before serving time. This waiting period between the table helps make the meat firm and the carving easy and allows time to make the gravy. The bird will hold its heat well during this period.

To roast the turkey on a rack in a shallow pan. Don't add water or cover the pan. To protect the turkey from getting too brown and dry, some homemakers like to cover the bird or a piece of cheesecloth moistened with fat. If the skin dries out, baste the bird with pan drippings or melted fat several times during roasting.

Heavy birds (18 pounds or over) usually cook more evenly if they are started breast down and turned when half done. But if turning is difficult, roast with the breast up. Small birds roast well without turning. The bird is done when the leg joints move easily and the flesh on the legs is soft and pliable when pressed with the fingers.

Grapefruit Prospects

More red and pink grapefruit and also more of the white seedless grapefruit will be coming to market in the years just ahead, according to the Department of Agriculture's latest fruit situation report. New plantings of grapefruit trees in both Texas and Florida tend toward the red and pink varieties because this fruit usually brings premium prices. In Texas trees planted to replace those killed by the freezes of 1949 and 1951 now have started to bear, so production should increase rapidly over the next few years, given enough water and favorable weather. Production in Florida also has been increasing with the red and pink as well as the seedless white varieties leading in the new plantings.

Total grapefruit production this fall and winter will be somewhat smaller than last year and below average. The Florida crop is 9 per cent larger than the small crop of last year. Average size of the fruit in both these states, however, is small. The Arizona crop is about average but considerably larger than last year.

Shipments of new-crop grapefruit from Florida started the last week in September. Because the weather this year caused the fruit to mature late, prices started high. As shipments reach heavy volume, the prices are expected to average about the same as last year.
